40-Hour Hazardous Waste Operations and Emergency Response Training (HAZWOPER)

Hazardous waste is a serious safety and health problem that endangers human and animal life and environmental quality. Hazardous waste-discarded chemicals that are toxic, flammable or corrosive- unless properly treated, stored or disposed of, will continue to do great harm to all living things that come into contact with it now or in the future. In light of the seriousness of the safety and health hazards related to hazardous waste operations, OSHA issued 29CFR 1926.65, a standard specifically developed to protect workers in this environment and to aid them to effectively and safely manage hazardous wastes.

TSCTA's 40-HR HAZWOPER training course is designed to teach attendees who enter sites that contain potentially hazardous waste basic health & safety work practices necessary to confidently work with and around hazardous materials and waste. Designed in accordance with OSHA requirements under 29 CFR 1910.120, this training is intended to meet the requirements of introductory, general training which, must then be followed by on-the-job site specific operating procedures for use of personal protective equipment (PPE), decontamination methods and other procedures.

TSCTA's training program consists of a synopsis of the core elements of an occupational safety and health program including emergency response plan and procedures. Additional course topics to be explored include proper use of air monitoring devices and appropriate use and hands-on demonstration of PPE. Besides live lecture and VHS video series, program includes discussion of pertinent provisions of EPA standards or laws, decontamination equipment and procedures, and review of air and contamination monitoring equipment. The training concludes with an interactive task, in which small factions of course participants are provided a mock hazardous scenario. Groups are responsible for design and implementation of response and incident command systems.
